

Meteorology Lecture Notes Disclaimer

These notes were given to me by a student to share with you. I have reproduced them as written, without editorial comment or correction.

Since textbooks change and editions are updated, any references to page numbers should be ignored. Lecture material also changes from semester to semester. You should find figures in your current textbook that mimic those drawn on these notes. The textbooks figures will be easier to read.

Dave Balogh