HONORS TRANSFER PROGRAM

Beginning fall 2008!

3 new honors courses

Political Science 1AH: Students will explore the ideological and Constitutional roots of the U.S. system; the role of citizen rights, responsibilities, and participation; the institutional structure of the U.S. government; and the public policy process. How did the Electoral College system influence the 2008 Presidential campaign and its outcome? What does the immigration issue tell us about the role of public opinion and interest groups in influencing public policy? What does the decision to go to war in Iraq illustrate about the foreign policy making process? Students will experience true student/instructor interaction within the classroom setting and have opportunities to set the course agenda for the issues to be investigated.
